Substance Abuse Day 26th June

Tomorrow, 26th June, marks Substance Abuse Awareness Day, to create an impact, and discuss the dangers of drugs and alcohol abuse, SADAG is hosting over 40 Substance Abuse Support Group Awareness Events across the country particularly in the rural communities. Expert speakers, will help to create awareness, education, prevention and intervention information on substance abuse. South Africa has a severe shortage, not only of mental health care facilities, but also of centers for substance abuse. the denial of the problem of dual diagnosis may be due to the fact that we have relatively little to offer in the way of treatment when patients are often bounced back and forth between services for mental illness and those for substance abuse, and may be refused treatment by each of them.

SADAG will also be hosting, two free one-hour LIVE chats on Facebook. The chats will be held on SADAG's Facebook Page, on the 27th June at 1pm with Psychologists Laila Paruk and Tasneen Mohamed and then at 7pm with Psychologist and Substance Abuse expert Neil Amoore. They will be helping family members, and parents identify possible symptoms of substance abuse, where to get help and treatment. Go to our website www.sadag.org for more details and to log into the chat.

SADAG runs the National Substance Abuse Prevention toll-free line (0800 12 13 14) for the Department of Social Development – a line that is open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to provide help and support for those affected by substance abuse.

Mental health month which is July, and the 10th July which is Panic Awareness Day are all examples of exactly why SADAG was founded 20 years ago – to get the message and facts out to as many people as possible. Mental illness is treatable and there is support so people don't have to suffer in silence for years before receiving a diagnosis and treatment. There are many simple steps that are helpful, some with medication, some CBT therapists, online help, books, online forums, free brochures and steps for help, SADAG can help every step of the way. SADAG will be having the next upcoming Facebook Friday chats on, Panic Disorder on 11th July and finally the 25th July will be giving free Trauma help and answering diverse questions and answers.
